COMPETITION FORMAT AND RULES SAILING

As of 23 JUN 2014

Youth Olympic Competition Format

The Sailing competition at the Nanjing Youth Olympic Games comprises four medal events: men's and women's One Person Dinghies and Windsurfers (referred to as Classes). Each NOC is permitted to enter each of the four events, and can send one man and one woman, as limited by the Qualification criteria.

For all Classes there is a target to reach 10 races (Opening series) plus the Final Race.

In opening series, one or more of the races may be competed as a slalom consisting of heats, semifinals and finals.

Races are conducted around a course of marker buoys laid out by the Race Committee. There may be one, two or possibly three laps required to complete a race. The Race Committee will decide on how many laps are required immediately prior to the start of the race, and this depends upon the amount of wind present and the size of the course. The Race Committee will alter the size of the course and number of laps so that each race lasts approximately the defined length of time shown in the table below. The orientation of the course is set so that the first leg of the race is always into the wind.

The shape of the courses varies for each event, with some sailing a straight upwind/downwind course, while others sail around four marks laid out in a trapezoid shape. There is also the possibility of introducing a slalom course.

Differences between the ISAF Junior World Championships and the Youth Olympic Games

At the Youth Olympic Games there are four events and 100 athletes. At the ISAF Junior World Championships there are seven events and in 2013 there were 280 athletes from 59 nations. For the Youth Olympic Games there will be a weighted Final Race to reflect the format used at the Olympic Games, whereas at the ISAF Junior World Championships there is no Final Race. The four events of the Youth Olympic Games will sail more races with shorter target times, all other areas of competition format are the same in terms of the courses sailed and the Rules.

Changes since the Singapore 2010 Youth Olympic Games

The possibility of slalom racing in the opening series has been introduced.

Sport Rules and Procedures

Judging

Unlike sports such as football or baseball, where all the action is centred around a single location near the ball, the action in Sailing is spread out over a wide area with up to 20 boats all taken different routes in order to sail the course as fast as possible. Therefore it is impossible to have direct judging in such a race. Sailing has a system of "self policing" whereby if a team feels that they have been infringed by another team on the water, they can call to the other boat to sail a penalty turn (sailing in a tight circle twice, commonly referred to as a "720"). If the team fails to accept the penalty, or an official observes an infringement of the rules, a "protest" is filed by the competitor or official after racing has finished and a hearing is convened. There is a time limit of one hour after the end of racing for the day in which a protest may be filed with officials; therefore it is quite common for results to be amended one to two hours after the completion of racing. Protests are more common than in most other sports and are a normal part of the sport. The most common rule infringements for disqualification are when two boats are crossing on opposite tacks and when rounding marks.

Scoring

Opening series

- All participating crews race in the opening series races
- Scoring uses a "low point" scoring system whereby the winner of each race is awarded one point; second place is awarded two points, etc. Failure to finish the race, or a disqualification, earns the competitor a number of points equal to the total number of competitors plus one, e.g. if there are 20 competitors, failure to finish would earn a team 21 points.

- A boat's series score for the regatta will be the total of her race scores from the opening series races and the Final Race

Slalom

- This format may be used at the discretion of the Race Committee
- A slalom format race is made of a first round of four heats, followed by semifinals and finals
- A complete slalom format race (heats and finals) is equivalent to one fleet race
- At least one fleet race should be sailed before any slalom racing
- The final race will not be a slalom format race
- A sailor's overall points will be used to seed them into the heats of a slalom format race
- The "low point" scoring system will be used to incorporate the slalom race results into the overall results (e.g. winner is awarded 1 point, 2nd place 2 points...)
- Each race should last 3 to 5 minutes
- The whole format should be completed within less than an hour

Final Race

- All participating crews will advance to the Final Race
- Competitors will carry their series scores (i.e. total of race scores after discard) through to the Final Race
- Race scores for the Final Race will be added to the series score. Scores for the Final Race may not be discarded.
- Any series tie after the Final Race will be broken in favour of the boat finishing higher in the Final Race
- If the Final Race is not completed, medals will be awarded based on the series score for all the prior races. If two or more competitors are tied on overall points at the end of the competition, a two-stage tie break procedure is used. The tie breaks are broken in favour of the competitor who has:
 - The highest number of first places, then second places, etc.
 - Achieved a higher placing in the last race of the event

Event Schedule

Intentions

This notice sets out the Race Committee's intentions for the remainder of the schedule. Friday and Saturday are both scheduled racing days and Sunday is a reserve day. In order to sail the final race, the rules require that 6 opening series races are completed. As this has now occurred, the final race will be sailed.

On Friday 22 August, the intention is to race the remaining races of the opening series for all 4 events (subject to the maximum of 3 races per day).

On Saturday 23 August, the final race of each of the 4 events will be raced even if the opening series has not been completed. If any of the final races are not sailed on Saturday, then the reserve day will be used to complete the final races. If there is no racing on Sunday, then medals will be awarded based on the results of the opening series.
